GERMANY TO BLAME U.S. AND BRITAIN FOR LOSS OF LUSITANIA?

London Hears Kaiser Will Emphatically Decline to Discontinue Attacks. Submarine Captain Claims Only One Shot Fired at Cunard Liner.

DAYTONA, MAY 18.—THAT BOTH THE UNITED STATES AND ENGLAND ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE LUSITANIA DISASTER WILL BE THE SUBSTANCE OF A REPLY TO PRESIDENT WILSON'S NOTE, SAYS A NEWS DISPATCH RECEIVED HERE TODAY FROM LONDON. THE GERMAN NOTE IS TO BE CABLED THURSDAY, AND IS EXPECTED TO CONTAIN AN EMPHATIC DECLARATION THAT GERMANY WILL CONTINUE HER SUBMARINE WARFARE.

THE GENERAL FEELING IN LONDON IS THAT THE AMERICAN NOTE, WHICH HAS PREVAILED FOR SEVERAL DAYS, HAS BEEN ANSWERED AND THAT GERMANY WILL MAKE NO CONCESSIONS. THE GERMAN REPLY, IT IS BELIEVED, WILL BE COUCHED IN LANGUAGE EXPRESSING THE HOPE THAT AMERICA WILL RECOGNIZE THE NECESSITY UNDER WHICH GERMANY WILL BE FORCED TO CONTINUE THE KIND OF SUBMARINE WARFARE SHE HAS BEEN WAGING HERETOFORE.

JAS. CARROLL LOSES ARM CRUSHED BY E. COAST LOCOMOTIVE

Late Saturday night, near Bunnell, a white man who gave his name as James Carroll and claimed Orlando as his home, was struck by an East Coast locomotive pulling a freight train, and so badly injured that Dr. Roy Howe, local surgeon for the railroad, was hurriedly summoned. Dr. Howe examined the man's wounds, finding that one of his arms was so severely crushed that amputation of the limb seemed necessary. The surgeon put the arm in splints and communicated by wire with railroad officials, who disclaimed responsibility for Carroll's injuries and declined to pay for having him treated. Dr. Howe, however, succeeded in having the wounded man taken to St. Augustine and placed in the railroad hospital at that place.

Carroll has been traveling over the country, evidently afoot part of the time, selling knives. He stated that the crushed arm had been paralyzed for several years.

Dr. Howe informed the Daily News that when he reached Carroll the latter was intoxicated and that he probably had fallen asleep, on or near the railroad track, sometime during the night prior to the freight train's appearance.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES AT THE PUBLIC SCHOOL

It should be borne in mind by all persons interested in the public school that the class day exercises will be held in the auditorium of the school building at 3:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at which time the prophesy, history and other class documents will be given, those taking part being Miss Ashley Maley, Seymour Hawn, Thomas Wetherell, Everett Drake, Winthrop Esch and Miss Marion Baker. The other three members of the graduating class, Miss Annie Bell McClellan, Curtis Gardiner and John S. Milligan, will appear in the commencement exercises Thursday evening. The class flower is the Richmond Rose and the colors are red and white.

E. L. Potter, president of the Clarendon Hotel company, and managing director of the hotel at Seabreeze, departed Monday for Evansville, Ind., accompanied by his little daughter, Helen, and her nurse, and by his sister, Mrs. Wilkinson. Mr. Potter will join Mrs. Potter at Evansville and they will go to Chicago and from that city will tour the greater part of the distance to California in their car. They expect to arrive at Los Angeles on or about June 10th.

Ernest Fulham left Monday on a short trip to Tampa. He is expected to return Wednesday.

SCHOOL RECEIVES VALUABLE LIBRARY

BOOKS PRESENTED BY MRS. J. D. MALEY WERE FROM LIBRARY OF HER FATHER, THE LATE COL. CHARLES H. JONES.

The Daytona public school has received a valuable gift in the form of a library of about 450 volumes presented by Mrs. Jerome D. Maley in memory of her father, the late Col. Charles H. Jones, of whose large library the books were a part.

The books comprise history, biography, social science and civics, and some miscellaneous, and are standard works, forming a good general reference library for the school. Needless to say that both the faculty and pupils are delighted with the gift which included the handsome book cases that contained the books. The books have been classified and catalogued by Mrs. Maley for the convenience of the pupils.

In presenting these books to the public school Mrs. Maley is carrying out the wish of her father, who felt an interest in Daytona and in Florida in general, having established and for a number of years edited the Florida Times-Union in Jacksonville and made the journey from that city to Daytona on the first train bringing passengers to the embryo resort town, at which time he was a guest at the banquet given by William Jackson and others in celebration of the event.

TENDERED A PLEASANT BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PARTY

Mrs. W. M. Hankins was pleasantly surprised Monday evening by a party of 16 of her friends who gathered at the Hankins' home on Ivy Lane in honor of her birthday anniversary. There was no special feature of entertainment, but the evening was spent in pleasant social converse.

Miss Eleanor Shenahan, a grandniece of Miss L. A. Cross of this city, was a Daytona visitor from Saturday until Monday, stopping over at this place to see Miss Cross and other relatives. Miss Shenahan had been at Coconut Grove during the winter and was returning to her home in Minneapolis, Minn.

FOOL-PROOF AIRSHIP FOR VINCENT ASTOR

BOSTON, May 18.—Vincent Astor is still awaiting a favorable opportunity to try out the hydro-aeroplane specially constructed for him. The craft is of the so-called "fool proof" Burgers-Dunne type, with the highest degree of safety and inherent stability obtainable in air navigation. In addition to this, personal comfort of the passengers and attractive appearance has been well provided for in the construction of the machine.

The main floating section is comprised in the boat hull, which will house not only the pilot and passengers but fuel and oil supplies. For the first named there are two compartments, one at the bow for the operator, and one amidship. The latter is furnished with two sheets, the rear of which contains a duplicate set of controls.

The motor will develop from 100 to 110 horsepower and will furnish ample power to drive the craft at a speed of between 65 and 75 miles per hour.

Reducing the Cost of Upkeep—

Ball Bearing: Long Wearing

THE INSTALLATION of L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriters is invariably followed by the discovery that the bills for ribbons are much less than before. A large corporation recently found that its ribbon expense was cut in two.

This is not an accident. It is the result of the mechanical construction that makes the L. C. Smith & Bros. cheapest to maintain.

The ball bearings give light touch and eliminate pounding impact. The ribbon is actuated by the carriage, not the typebar. The ribbon mechanism is automatic, so that the ribbon reverses at the instant the end is reached and without added strain.

Low ribbon cost, low cost of maintenance and the highest efficiency—these are guaranteed to L. C. Smith & Bros. users.

MINUTES IN MANHATTAN.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Manhattan has just opened the biggest office building in the world. The new Equitable building will have a population of more than 15,000, but no city of that size in the world can compare with this structure in wealth and importance.

It cost $29,000,000, of which $14,- 000,000 is the value of the land. Standing just one block off Wall street, on Broadway, it is chock full of the leaders in American business and finance.

Well, well! While Europe is debating whether marriage or the war baby is more important, New York city is putting itself on record for old-fashioned, regulation unions.

A "common law" husband was suing for alienation of his wife's affections. There had been no ceremony. But he considered the woman he had lived with and who had born him two children as his wife and thought he had ground for a damage suit against the man he said had butted in.

One of the questions asked talesmen was whether they thought common law marriage were proper. Thirty-eight citizens out of the first fifty examined frowned upon the common law marriage institution so unhesitatingly that they were barred from the jury box.

The other twelve thought the affections of a wife could not be measured in dollars and cents—so it was necessary to summon a new panel.

You can turn up almost anything in New York. Some Kingsbridge children were digging in a lot a few days ago when they began to dig up cannon balls. They collected 250 cannon balls about the size of a coconut, both solid and shell, 100-bar shot, 30 expanding bar shot, many ball and chain shot, one 100-pound mortar shot and a 50-pound bar shot.

It was a hiding place of one of George Washington's artillery officers. With these he hoped to take off the heads of some of the Hessians whom King George had sent over to pacify the country.

The expanding bar shot was a real pleasant little device, almost as human as a cylinder of chlorine. It resembles a dumb-bell. It was placed lengthwise in the muzzle of a cannon with spikes, nails, and miscellaneous junk placed between the two knobs.
When the cannon was fired the mess came out like a shrapnel shell breaking. The bar between the two shot lengthened to about 18 inches. The whole thing took up a whirling motion and could mow down a file of Redcoats.

Undoubtedly George Washington's 50-pound bar shot could not travel 23 miles, but at short distances it was a nasty customer.

COLLEGE GETS $10,000,000

Miss Mary Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr college, will receive the bulk of the $10,000,000 estate left by her friend, Miss Mary Elizabeth Garrett, daughter of the late John W. Garrett, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Miss Thomas is named executrix and residuary legatee under the will which has just been probated.
Bryn Mawr receives no specific bequest, but the terms of the will indicate that Miss Thomas and Miss Garrett, who had been close friends for years, had an understanding that the college was to receive substantial benefits. The picture shows Miss Thomas and Baron Russell Briggs of Radcliffe college at recent college exercises.

These heirlooms had been sold at public auction years ago, but were recovered through the agency of friends.
The walnut chest still has upon it shipping instructions via the old Erie and Maumee canals, in the days before the railroads.

"HICCOUGHS OF THE SEA"

Scientists Explain Frequent Reports of Cannonading Heard in the North Sea.

Paris.—The frequent reports, which subsequently were not confirmed, that heavy cannonading had been heard in the North sea, have led to an investigation by scientists. It was thus disclosed that the reports of detonations were authentic, although no firing took place.

Scientists who were on the lookout for a repetition of this phenomenon were rewarded by hearing loud detona-tions off the coast on a day when it was known that no naval action whatever was in progress. This phenomenon was noted along the French coast, off the Department of Pas-de-Calais.
Abbe Moreux of the observatory at Bourges came to the conclusion that these loud reports were simply what the Belgians call "mistpuffers," or explosions of fog. They are called "hic-cougs of the sea" in Holland, and sometimes are referred to as marine bombs. The same phenomenon has been observed on the banks of the great lakes and on the great plains of the Delta of the Ganges.

After the theory that these detona-tions were produced by artillery had been discarded, it was thought possible that they were the result of electrical discharges. Finally Abbe Moreux noticed that the appearance of this phenomenon was generally simultaneous with reports of explosions of firedamp in mines.

The electrical action of the sun upon the surface of the earth, the abbe says, provokes movements favorable to the expansion of imprisoned gases where-ever there are fissures in the crust.

These gases, liberated from their prisons, explode and cause at the same time explosions of firedamp and earthquakes. The abbe pointed out that earthquakes are always preceded by noises resembling distant detonations of artillery. Vibrating shocks originating in the interior of the crust of the earth may produce sonorous waves which are quite perceptible if the atmosphere is in repose.

Abbe Moreux says that meteorological conditions do not, as has been supposed, cause the phenomenon, although they may favor its production.

PIED PIPER ENDS CAREER

Quits Rat Catching When He Earns Enough Money to Buy a Boat.

Galveston, Tex.—Charles Bertolina, the Galveston Pied Piper, has turned in his badge and will not be seen catching rats along the water front and the beach for some time. Charles is the champion rat catcher of Galveston. For the past several months he has been taking the rodents at the rate of 2,000 per month.

For this service he received the regular price paid for rats, and in addition was given a bonus of $10 provided he caught as many as 1,000 in thirty days.

When Charles began his career as rat catcher he said he would quit when he had made enough money to buy a boat and a gasoline engine. Recently he made the purchase, and then appeared at the health office and laid down his commission.

The latest record made by Charles was 1,028 rats in 15 days. For these he was paid at the rate of eight and ten cents each and given a bonus of $10.

Found Watch Lost in 1860.

Redondo Beach, Cal.—Jerome Newberry, a young farmer, while plowing a patch of ground which had been allowed to grow weeds for many years, unearthed a large gold watch which had been lost by his grandfather in 1860.

RECOVERS FURNITURE

Man Also Gets Appreciation of Grandfather's Shrewdness Temperance.

Santa Fe, N. M.—Supt. J. M. Wagner of the public schools of this city has just come into possession of interesting heirlooms that had passed out of his family, but which he collected in eastern Indiana, where they had been taken from Lancaster county, Penn. They include an old-fashioned walnut chest, made over a hundred years ago, when each piece of furniture represented the work of an individual craftsman, instead of being a more collection of pieces made by machinery and assembled in a warehouse; a colonial walnut bureau and other pieces of furniture.

In one of the bureaus was found an old indenture of apprenticeship, binding out Mr. Wagner's grandfather as a millwright apprentice. Contrary to prevailing opinion, there were pronounced temperance ideas in those days, for the indenture bound young Wagner to keep away from public taverns and gambling places.

These heirlooms had been sold at
public auction years ago, but were recovered through the agency of friends.
The walnut chest still has upon it
shipping instructions via the old Erie
and Maumee canals, in the days before the railroads.

CHILD DANCER A SENSATION

Virginia Myers, daughter of Jerome Myers of New York, made her first public appearance as a dancer when she was four years old. Her dances are original, unrehearsed and spontaneous. Virginia is now nine years old.

HAS TRADE SCHOOL FOR MEN

Great Britain Fits Grown-Ups for Jobs Which Require Skilled Labor.

London.—One of the most interesting employment experiments in England is a trade training school for men, enabling them to shift from a trade temporarily stagnant owing to the war, into one where skilled labor is urgently needed. The experiment is being carried out by the Prince of Wales Relief fund, and if successful may be indefinitely extended.

Furniture trade was one of those adversely affected by the war, and a large number of skilled furniture workers have since become skilled leather workers, on military equipment.

The school was opened December 7, last. In the first five weeks of its existence it enrolled 139 men, 64 of whom already have "graduated" and obtained employment as leather stitchers.

More than half of the men placed have been more than forty years old, and the report of the first five weeks' work in the school says men more than forty, "and indeed over fifty," are as quick and adaptable as the younger men.

DODGED SCHOOL, MADE 'PILE'

Country Boy Returns Home After Few Weeks' Absence Driving a Racing Car.

Hutchinson, Kan.—Henry Koehn, a country boy from Galva, McPherson county, was sent to Hutchinson a few weeks ago by his father to get an education in a business college. His father gave him $250 and good advice.

"Now, Henry, be careful," his father advised. "This will be enough money.
You can't have extras." Henry came back home, driving a 1915 model racing roadster. He wore a tailor-made suit and a diamond ring. Also he had in his pocket a bank book showing that he had $2,500 or more on deposit in a bank.

A few days after his arrival in Hutchinson with his $250, he fell in with a friend of his father, a grain man. Henry was tempted. He invested his $250 in wheat. Usually it pans out the other way. In Henry's case it didn't. Some say he cleaned up as much as $7,000. Henry is not going to school.

Cat Mothers Chickens.

ing to L. A. Watson of Spring Hill into her keeping. She sleeps with the one runs astray from the others over-takes it and carries it tenderly, by the nape of its neck, back to its mates.

FROM THE OTHER SIDE

LONDON, May 18.—Amateur nurses of "war heroes" has developed some amazing things. A handsome officer, weary of the well-doing guardian angels one morning phoned over his bed which read "Patient X is too ill to be nursed."

The professional English nurses in a hospital run by a strange mixture of English society and artistic whimsy; also a poet of unorthodox genius who is noted for the fluency of both his language and pen.

Amateur nurses had a way of crawling around the beds while the professional nurses were washing their faces and changing their bandages.

Some above such prejudices, the amateur nurses were washing their faces and changing their bandages. "But," said the professionals. So the amateur and artistic ones had to be let the patients be attended to by a gallery.

The man, covered with dirt, was washed into a hospital. Not a word was said but as a result of a month in the trenches he offended the nose, as well as the eyes of certain society nurses, who managed to palm him off on some accommodating Sisters of Charity among the nursing staff. They felt rather foolish the next day when the wounded man was washed up and discovered to be the Marquis de Z---, one of the oldest names and greatest fortunes in France.

VIENNA, May 18.—As the state lotteries no longer bring in much money, the ancient custom of the "warrior in iron" has been revived. In the Schwarzenbergplatz stands a tall wooden knight on a little rostrum to which one gains access by a few steps. Ten yards away is a booth where for the sum of 25c. you buy a ticket entitling you to drive a nail into the knight's body. There are already 300,000 nails and it is hoped to reach 700,000.

LONDON, May 18.—In the hysteria over caring for the so-called "war baby," the peace baby has been a bit overlooked. The latter is still a bit the more numerous.

A writer in the Daily Chronicle says: "It is only the shallow mind that concerns itself about the war baby and leaves the peace baby to perish in loneliness and neglect.

MONSTER U. S. FLEET SAILS AWAY TO "WAR"

NEW YORK, May 18.—While the president reviewed the magnificent procession of warships from the deck of his yacht, the Mayflower, the vessels of the Atlantic fleet passed out to sea here today, bound for important manoeuvres which culminate in a "war game."

The president had spent the night aboard the Mayflower, following his reviews of the fleet yesterday. The Mayflower was anchored in the Hudson. At 9:00 o'clock this morning the Mayflower, Dolphin and the Yankton got under way and proceeded to a point in the harbor near the Statue of Liberty. Here they anchored.

The harbor was filled with pleasure craft, on board of which were thousands of spectators. At 9:30 o'clock the fleet got under way. From their anchorage along the Hudson river, from off Seventy-ninth street to Washington Point, they steamed at 10 knots' speed, passing the presidential yacht.

Without a hitch the long line of 73 warships passed the Mayflower, lines of flags flying and officers and crews standing at attention.
